

Somewhere Beyond

by Ali Matthews (c) 2010

An iron fist in a velvet glove
Oh, the turning, twisting ways of love
I'll never claim to understand
But I believe you hold the answers in your hand

A killing wind, an orphans cry
So much pain and I don't know the reason why I hear you say, my child it won't be long For peaceful waters they will flow
Somewhere beyond

chorus

So I will sing until my heart stops beating
Until I hear the sweetest angels' song
And find my rest out on a new horizon
I'll fix my eyes somewhere beyond

It's just a little piece of a bigger part it's just the journey of an undercover heart
With the walk of love, the ways of grace
We'll maybe bring a little mercy to this place

Repeat chorus

Someday all that's broken and tragic and unfair someday every mystery will become clear every missing piece of the puzzle is out there somewhere out there, somewhere

So I will sing until my heart stops beating
Until I hear the sweetest angels' song
And find my rest out on a new horizon
I'll fix my eyes somewhere beyond

